

BIO

Maggie Schoonover is the CEO, President, Senior Software Engineer and Certified Scrum Master at Smash Dev Shop. Maggie is actually a degreed meteorologist, but she spends her days running a tech company. Somehow, she went from chasing storms and balancing the ideal gas equation to building awesome websites and streamlining project workflow — but she wouldn't have it any other way. When she isn't building web tools for local businesses, you can find her perfecting her scone recipe while planning her next vacation. She spends her days running a tech company and teaching/promoting Agile methods in Wichita.

Greg Crown is the co-founder and CTO at Smash Dev Shop and specializes in leading Agile teams in software development. Greg likes problem solving. He also likes popcorn and silly movies. Unfortunately, he only gets paid for one of these things. Greg has spent over half his life building businesses and web solutions for local communities in Iowa and Kansas. When he isn't learning a new coding language or launching your new website, you can find him making fresh salsa in the kitchen or beating you at your favorite game.
